

WHAT IT MEANS TO BE AN AMERICAN NATIONAL SOCIALIST IN THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST AMERICAN LABOR PARTY

Character is fundamental to American National Socialism and all honorable American National Socialists lead lives of character and fidelity to their word. American National Socialists hold themselves and each other to high standards of morality, dignity and conduct that of a western civilized person, i.e. ladies and gentlemen. American National Socialist Leadership always lead by example and their respect is earned by their example and is never required to be demanded. A real American National Socialist leader is required to leave their post if at any time their actions, either in the Party or in their private matters brings dishonor to the Party or National Socialism. An American National Socialist can never use National Socialism for personal gain or profit nor use the Party's assets or symbols to engage in private commerce or business dealings for personal enrichment, to do so is to defile the Party and National Socialism and such money changing will not be tolerated.

American National Socialists live by honor, truth, fidelity, and character. This means that our members are never prepared to be dishonored or compromise their honor for the moment, those that are, are NOT American National Socialists. American National Socialists fulfill their responsibilities and obligations to their Family, Folk, Party and Nation and will always set a positive example of National Socialism by the way in which they their lives and conduct themselves.

An American National Socialist never finds an excuse for breaking his or her word or sacrificing his or her commitment or character, no matter how extreme the situation. An American National Socialist always acts with honor and dignity in any situation.

The greatest commitment and responsibility an American National Socialist has is to his wife/husband and children. The covenant of marriage, family and nurturing ones children is fundamental to the National Socialist World View (Weltanschauung). Any individual who violates this sacred convenient, is not a true National Socialist.

American National Socialism requires courage, commitment and is not for the faint of heart. American National Socialism is not for timid souls and trembling spirits, nor is it for those that are long on talk and short on action.

The concept of American National Socialist personal honor must be a reality in each of our own lives. We must all live it every day, especially when no one is watching, for this is when it really counts. In this way the National Socialist World View (Weltanschauung) truly becomes part of our lives.

Above all, a real American National Socialist always puts the interests of the Party, the Movement, and National Socialism above their individual interest. American National Socialism is not about individual self aggrandizement, it is about a movement for a better Nation for our Folk.
